Everybody's Talking!

Hot ice cream: Sunni Sky's, an ice cream shop in Angier, North Carolina, sells the creamy white stuff with a twist - jalapeno peppers. The ice cream is so spicy, customers have to sign a waiver before they get licking. The ice cream is called Cold Sweat and is made with three kinds of peppers and two kinds of hot sauce. "It feels like fire," says regular customer Scott McCallum. Shop owner, Scott Wilson began using jalapenos in his ice cream in an unsuccessful attempt to lure Hispanic customers. Hispanics may not be eating his ice cream, but lots of others are, and have signed the waiver to do so.

Chowing down: Takeru Kobayashi thinks nothing of dining on 53 hotdogs and downs them all in 12 minutes. Or at least that's what he did to win the 2006 Independence Day hotdog eating race on New York's Coney Island. It was Kobayashi's sixth straight win in the competition - not bad for a guy from Japan who weighs 160 pounds. He says the secret to his success is dipping the dog into a soft drink before cramming it into his mouth.

Stop thief! Police in Chatham-Kent, Ontario, were red-faced when their squad car was stolen by a person they had just apprehended. Staff Sgt. Don Vitek says a woman who was found with a bottle of alcohol was removed from her vehicle, handcuffed with her hands behind her back, and put in the back seat of the police car. Somehow, she managed to get her hands in front of her, make her way to the front seat and take off in the cruiser. "We couldn't believe it," says Vitek. The woman drove a few miles before ending up in the river. She tried to swim away but was caught by police.

Dropping in: Two parachutists blew off course and made an impromptu pit stop at the residence of Crown Prince Naruhito of Japan. The duo were in parachutes for a television program in Tokyo and were trying to land in Jingu Stadium, located right across the street from the royal palace. Mitsuo Koibuchi, an official with the Imperial Guard Headquarters saw the surprise visitors

Hidden guy is smaller!

They needed a wide open space to land and they had no idea it was the royal family's residence," said an understanding Koibuchi.

What's Happening

Theatre Arlington is holding open auditions for our youth fall play The Little Mermaid by Linda Daugherty and based on the fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen. This story was made famous by Disney's musical version with Ariel. This play adaptation focuses on the mermaid Pearl and the Sea Witch. Auditions are Saturday, Sept. 20, 2008 at noon at Theatre Arlington located at 305 W. Main St. in downtown Arlington.

Saturday, September 27, St. Stephen United Methodist Church, 1800 W. Randol Mill Rd. in Arlington, will present the first part of our yearly Fall Festival. A huge Yard Sale will begin at 8:00 a.m. (including furniture, appliances, clothes, and a plethora of children's items!). Also featured will be a Bake Sale, Children's Game Area, and Cookout Lunch. The festivities will end at 2:00 p.m. Bring a friend! The following Saturday, October 4, we'll host a BBQ dinner at 5:00 p.m. followed by a Live Auction. Tickets for "the best BBQ you'll ever enjoy" are currently on sale ($7.00 adults, $3.50 children). All are welcome to enjoy good food, good fellowship and an exciting auction experience!

Sunday, Sept. 28, 1:30 pm. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary of Post 8561 will host a Prisoners of War / Missing in Action Recognition Ceremony. The focus is to ensure that America remembers its responsibility to stand behind those who serve our nation and do everything possible to account for those who do not return. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, contact Peggy Jentgens at PPJent@aol.com.
